Written by Dr. HOWEL;

THE BOOKSELLER
TO THE READER.
THIS Excellent Treatise was first sent to the Press in the Year 1678, by an unknown Hand with Intimation only, that it was written by a Clergy Man in the Country, being the Minutes he took in his Course of Studying the English History.
The Judgment and Fidelity with which it was Compiled supplied the want of his Author's Name, and the Publick were so well pleas'd with it that many Thousand Copies were soon sold off without any Knowledge of the Author.
At length Mr. Anthony Wood in his Athena Oxoniensis, speaking of Dr. Howell, Author of the General History, so well known for its Excellency, declares this Treatise to be his.

Handwritten Latin text in a medieval script, likely a manuscript or a printed page from a historical document. The text is dense and covers most of the page.

I witnessed Joseph Gregory Hallett sign this Document in my presence & sign as a living man or living woman.
